Approach overview.

To start, Workday global professional services or your trusted partner guides you through a discovery process to better understand your needs and content. Our deployment methodology guarantees a consistent approach and easy communication within the ecosystem. We then provide a preconfigured tenant based on best practices and what we learn from the discovery process. This removes potentially costly guesswork that comes with starting from scratch and helps to accelerate planning. Because your data is preloaded into the tenant, you can see your data in action and make critical decisions with confidence from the start, limiting your risk. You can then expand and refine the preconfigured prototype to ensure a perfect match.

We intentionally designed Workday Launch packages with the critical functionalities our customers typically deploy. You can expand Workday with add-ons or integrations to meet the needs of your organization. Packages vary by region and industry.
